

Ammon Bennett, tenor

Biography

Ammon is a Classical Tenor from Rockingham, Western Australia. In 2017, Ammon left his job as a mechanical fitter in the mining industry and decided to audition for WAAPA in the classical voice program. 2018 Ammon was accepted into WAAPA and began studying as a classical singer. During that time Ammon has performed a variety of opera roles such as the Dean of the faculty in Cendrillon, Alfredo in Die Fledermaus, and he recently performed the role of Frederic in WAAPA's Production of Pirates of Penzance.

During his time at WAAPA, Ammon has worked under the tutelage of Fiona McAndrew and Michael Lewis. Ammon has also performed as a soloist in the Mozart Requiem, performed the duet "Ah, non cridea mirarti", Bellini, with Emma Matthews at Government House Ballroom, and performed for Richard Bonynghe when he visited Perth in 2019.

In his spare time, Ammon trains in Brazilian Jiu jitsu, and tutors in his current hometown, Mandurah.
